140	1895 Brill. Gem proof. The Standard catalog finally recognizes that only proofs are known, a fact that has been evident for many years. The Rarest coin in the Morgan series, it has always sold for more than catalog with sales as high as $160.00 when it only catalogued for $100.00, it now catalogs at $150.00 and should bring close to the $200.00 mark.

Lot 200—1817 Over 14 Half Dollar. Clear overdate. Extremely Fine, Extremely Rare and Probably Unique. A fine circular die break line extends from top to bottom of the obverse, attractive bluish patina at outer borders.

This lot unlike other coins in this sale, is not offered for unreserved sale and will not be sold unless a bid is received commensurate with its Rarity and Value.

This coin was examined, photographed and catalogued in the spring of 1952, by Wayte Raymond, in conjunction with The American Numismatic Society of New York City and is listed in the 1953 Standard Catalog of U. S. coins, for the first time this year. On page 114 Mr. Raymond states that one example is known to him; he refers to the identical coin pictured above. His personal letters to us in regard to same plus original photograph by the A. N. S. and other literature are all part of our file on this coin, that will be given to the buyer.

Mr. Raymond apparently believes this half dollar is the same as one allegedly possessed by a California dealer in the nineteen thirties, the California coin is also mentioned in Green's check list book of 1936, with notation 1 known. I cannot say that this is or is not the same coin. But I am positive it is the only known specimen of public record as of this date.

Until we sent this coin and had it publicly certified as outlined above, it had not previously been recognized or listed, in any of the commonly accepted authoritative books on half dollars, i.e.: Beistles, Guidebook or Standard catalog. Nor to the best of our knowledge has a similar coin ever previously been offered in any Auction Sale Catalog.

I will not attempt to estimate value here, but it will be noted that Mr. Raymond states in the 1953 catalog that the California dealer placed a value of $2500.00 on his coin in the depression year of 1934. Regardless of price paid for a Rarity of this degree, it should prove to be a bargain.

365	1919-S Ex. Fine with full mint luster, I doubt if this coin was ever in circulation, but it does have small marks from careless handling, however, they are hardly noticeable. Coin is nicely struck for this date and general appearance is equal to most that I have seen in Unc. sets. This is the rarest of the Liberty Standing half dollars. Catalogs Unc. at $250.00 but a weak struck specimen brought $280.00 at the 1952 ANA Sale. I believe this one is well worth	150.00
366	1919-S Another one Ex. Fine, it is unusual when just one comes along and this is the first time we have ever had two nice ones in one sale. This one does not have as much luster as the preceding lot and slight rubbing is discernable on eagle's breast, however, it is well struck and has some luster, worth	110.00
